

Course:

Preparing TAs for the rigour of the mastery curriculum

Course Presenters: Emma Beattie & Claire James

Mastery learning proposes that all children can learn when provided with the appropriate learning conditions in the classroom. To deliver a mastery curriculum and for children to succeed and achieve we need highly skilled Teaching Assistants to support the learning and development of the children.

We have designed a programme which will equip Teaching assistants with the skills and attributes needed to support teachers who are delivering a mastery curriculum.

This one day training session will include

- Mastery- what is it?
- Activities to deepen learning
- Planning
- Questioning
- Mini teaching
- Strategies to use in the classroom
- Key skills in Mathematics and English
- Small group activities
- Using key resources in class

The delivers are:

Emma Beattie – Deputy Head Teacher and SLE

Emma Beattie's expertise is in teaching and Learning, leadership and whole school numeracy development. Emma Beattie has worked across the full primary age range in schools across Tower Hamlets and Newham. Emma has a wealth of experience in supporting colleagues and most recently she has been supporting school on curriculum development and maths. She is a trained facilitator on the ITP and OTP programmes.

Claire James – Assistant Head Teacher and SLE

Claire has been a classroom teacher for 9 years and has worked across both key stages and in the EYFS. She was the EYFS leader for 5 years and during that time she developed a very deep understanding of the EYFS framework, assessment and monitoring procedures. She has experience as Early Literacy leader where she has developed a secure understanding of phonics and has supported teachers in the delivery of quality phonics teaching throughout key stage 1 and early years. She has a wealth of experience in supporting trainees, NQT's and colleagues within classroom practice or developing leadership roles. She is also a trained facilitator on the ITP and OTP programmes.
